Tuesday a.m., May 23 — Juno Beach

The remains of a German bunker guard the beach in front of the Juno Beach Centre. On June 6, 1944, Canadians successfully stormed the beach and began moving inland.

D-Day was the largest coastal invasion in history.

The Allies landed on five beaches in Normandy.
Left: The visitors' centre. By Cathy Britt.

Joe Murray explains the events of June 6, 1944, on Juno Beach.   By Barb Faulkner.

Left: Our guide tells the story of a German bunker excavated from the shifting sands at Juno Beach.

Bill Britt with tablets remembering soldiers who fought at Juno Beach. By Cathy Britt.

Rose Barati lays a flag at a monument honouring the dead of the Royal Canadian Navy.
By Vanessa Barati.

Left: By Mike Jarvis.

Below: By Nancy Stelpstra.